

Ethnic Intimidation

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania or federal laws consider certain crimes to be more serious when motivated by hatred or malice toward race, color, religion or national origin of another group. These underlying offenses include but are not limited to crimes against persons such as harassment, terroristic threats, assaults and damage to or vandalism of property. Victims should immediately report any such activities or crimes to the Dean of Students Office and Department of Public Safety.